ABOUT US

We are a Big Team of Professionals!

First Scrap is a company that is dedicated to recycling end-of-life metal scrap. We have several global partners with whom we can source metals from all over the world. Our principal activities include processing, purchasing, and selling materials such as copper, brass, aluminum, ferrous and nonferrous scrap metals. Our business provides a cost-effective way for companies around the world to recycle their metal scrap streams into new products that will be sold into major markets. In addition, we provide environmentally responsible disposal of industrial scrap that adds value to your bottom line through reduced disposal costs and reduced liability from the health effects of improper scrap disposal.

INTRODUCTION

First Scrap is a business subsidiary of First Scrap Global Inc. that fundamentally deals in the collection, segregation, shredding, recycling, and selling of several classes of ferrous and non-ferrous metals. The first scrap utilizes a wide range of ground and maritime transportation methods, including roll-off trucks, closed vans, coasters, containers, box trucks, flatbeds, drop decks, and open-top trucks for quick and efficient transportation of scrap metals. The company was formed in the year 2000 with only a handful of people on board in light of the surging demand for metals due to urbanization and industrialization globally. and has been playing a pivotal role in the scrap metal recycling sector ever since.

ROAD MAP

Enough capital had been gathered, and the team was doing really well. More workers were hired, and storage facilities were constructed. Recycling hubs were established within the first three years.

The company acquired more machines and workers. First Scrap's import and export operations started. The company was doing well at that juncture. The growth of the company has increased significantly since 2008.

Given the large amount of metal scrap created in that region, we began growing with more branches in the APAC region. By the end of 2017, there were 29 processing centres functioning.

In the year 2020, the company registered its domains and made itself recognized. Within a year, the company didn't only expand globally, but many business opportunity programmes were started.

First Scrap also intends to host endorsements and partnerships by this time. First Scrap intends to grow its general capital to more than 100% of its maximum capacity. Indeed, the corporation would never give up on its efforts to improve the lives of the general public.

The founder, Mr. John Ronald, along with a few other pals, came together to form a team and collected local scrap, which was mostly metal, and gave it to big recyclers. This was done with relatively less equipment and machines.

First Scrap began spreading its wings across various geographical locations. Many people from various countries were pleased to work with the company. In such a short time period, the company had made a name for itself in a number of neighbouring countries & cities.

The greatest way to increase the scale of operations was to make First Scrap global and accessible to suppliers in different geographical locations. As a result of this, a number of suppliers from all over the world expressed an interest in partnering with the company on scrap disposal.

This time period was a watershed moment for the corporation because it signalled the start of a new era in which the company worked on the most extensively used marketing techniques and platforms, such as social media, search marketing, and online advertising.

The company aspires to work with a diverse range of businesses and to be a market leader in the metal recycling industry. The organisation intends to train its employees on a global scale in accordance with its superior technical expertise.
